Of course political candidates should be allowed to show pictures of aborted babies in their TV commercials. It's educational programming.

Thank you for your attention.

To Whom It May Concern,

I have recently been made aware of the fact that there is an effort being made to restrict what candidates may use in their campaign literature and especially in their TV commercials. It seems that many people were offended by the use of abortion pictures in the ads during the past election.

May I suggest that rather than censor what candidates may say or use, instead just require that they not violate any existing laws regarding obscenity. Selective censorship can be very dangerous.

Sincerely,
Joan Lobker

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to refer to Docket 92-254. Re: The airing of graphic pro-life ads. People should be made aware of what they are doing when they have or support abortions. To say this is offensive, when keeping people ignorant of what is really happening by allowing pro-choice supporters to continue with their, at best partial, information, is ridiculous. People should know all the facts before making a choice of such serious consequence. To stop advertising that tells people what really happens is to keep important truth from them. We strongly favor graphic pro-life advertising. Allow people to know what's going on.

Thank you for your consideration on this important matter.

Sincerely,

Mr. & Mrs. Thomas L. Vieth

FCC - MAIL ROOM

Dear Commissioners,

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

It has come to my attention that you will be holding a hearing on "political advertising" on TV being censored by the local TV stations: I am completely against any political candidate being censored for their views and positions regardless! If this ability to "censor" views is allowed by some, then any local or national TV station can "censor" any view they are against, while the opponent gets their time on the same channel! It is unbelievable to me that the FCC is even considering allowing this to happen:

Let the candidates "show and tell" what they believe in and what they stand for and then let the voters decide on election day who will represent them: The only exception or qualification in any advertising would be in not allowing any "illegal or unlawful" activity to be advertised, if it would be advocated by the candidate: But if they are talking about a "legal" activity or method then do not allow the local or nation TV stations to censor them:

Sincerely,

Don Musgrave
